Other ActiveSync Device Activation Instructions
These instructions are for ActiveSync devices such as the Motorola Droid and the HTC Incredible. Check with your wireless service provider for information on your specific device and model number.

Before you start:

You must know your primary e-mail address
- For Emory Healthcare employees it is your @emoryhealthcare.org address.
- For physicians and university employees it is your @emory.edu address.

You must know your Logon ID (Network ID) and password
- For healthcare employees you'll need your Emory Healthcare logon ID and password
- For physicians and university employees you'll need your Emory University Network ID (NetID) and password

Your device must be activated with your service provider before you can configure it to sync with Exchange.
In most cases you will also need a special data plan that can be purchased via your provider. This plan or corporate data plan is necessary before syncing with Exchange.

Information Needed:
Note: The exact steps you will take to configure your device to sync with Exchange will depend on your device. Please refer to your device owner's manual for details on where to enter the following information.

If your primary (or only) e-mail address is @emoryhealthcare.org:
- Server Address: ehcowa.emory.edu
- SSL: Yes
- User Name: your Emory Healthcare Logon ID
- User Password: your Emory Healthcare Password
- Domain: EUH

If your primary (or only) e-mail address is @emory.edu:
- Server Address: owa.emory.edu
- SSL: Yes
- User Name: University Network ID or NETID
- Domain: EMORYUNIVAD